Skin Benefits

Hydrogenated rapeseed oil, or hydrogenated canola oil, provides moisturization and acts as an emollient for the skin. It can be used in skincare products such as creams, lotions, or balms to create a smooth and soft texture.

Hair Benefits

Hydrogenated rapeseed oil, or hydrogenated canola oil, can be used in hair care products to provide moisturization and conditioning benefits. It can be added to hair oils, serums, or styling products to promote smoothness and manageability of the hair.

Functionality

Easily-Absorbed

Quickly absorbs into the skin without leaving a greasy residue. Lightweight and ensures fast penetration, delivering essential nutrients and hydration for a smooth and nourished complexion.

Emollient

Softens and smooths the skin, creating a protective barrier that locks in moisture. It is particularly beneficial for dry, rough, and chapped skin, providing deep hydration and improving the skin's texture.
